Objective: Nanotechnology and Renewable Energy K-12 Outreach:

To develop education programs with engaging, hands-on activities targeted at upper elementary and middle school-aged youth to enhance their understanding of matter and energy. This material will be developed by professional educators in collaboration with project researchers, and will be shaped by formative evaluation, learning research, and science standards.